DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 6 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 8-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The 'preferably' phrases are indefinite as it is not clear what is being claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-5,7-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the admitted prior art (APA) in view of either Page or Morgan. APA is the apparatus and its problems discussed early in the specification and the first six lines of claim 1. The rotating and stationary cutters are not of convex/concave relationship resulting in poor cutting of the material. Both secondary references disclose similar apparatus including this type of cutter relationship. In order to efficiently cut the material, it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to modify APA by using cutters in a convex/concave relationship, taught to be desirable by both page and Morgan. The remaining limitations would then have been obvious design choices only as they solve no stated problems. Furthermore, the amount of openings provided would depend on several factors such as material being treated and desired cutting results.
